

RADSOURCE PACS PORTAL ACCESS

Lakeside's PACS system supports doctors with efficiency and accuracy.

At Lakeside MRI & Diagnostic Health, we encourage all referring physicians to join our PACS portal. This system is designed to replace the role of conventional radiology film and CDs by acquiring, storing, transmitting and displaying images digitally. Reports and other patient related information, such as clinical history, are also included, making the PACS portal an all-in-one system. With access, physicians gain real-time reports and images from our facility for their patients, in addition to the faxed reports already received.

As a healthcare organization, Lakeside considers the PACS system to be an essential tool in our streamlined cooperation with our physicians because it offers these benefits:

Enhanced Viewing for More Accurate Analysis

The digital images that the physician receives can be manipulated electronically for visual enlargement and 3D image creation through rotation. This increased visualization allows the data to be interpreted more accurately for a better diagnosis.

Improved Data Management

Being stored electronically, patient data is better organized, which improves efficiency, saving time and money on locating records and eliminates lost film. Additionally, digital images are rapidly retrieved for interpretation and comparison and duplicate images are reduced, since it tracks all previous results.

Easy Access to Patient Reports & Real-Time Results

Because patient reports are stored digitally, access is greatly improved by using the software on digital devices anytime, anywhere. Procedures are performed remotely, and the results are shared immediately. In addition, images can be archived and transported on portable media, such as a USB drive or smart phone.

Teleradiology

Remote access allows the doctor and radiologist in different locations to simultaneously access the same information for teleradiology during a procedure. This also makes after procedure case consultations an easier undertaking.

These are just a few of the benefits that you can gain from using Lakeside MRI & Diagnostic Health's PACS system, which is why we are encouraging our referring physicians to sign up to begin streamlining patient report handling now.
